Create New Poll

Use the form below to create a new poll. The life of a poll is controlled by three dates: the active date, the end date, and the expiration date. In general, the active date must be less than the end date, which must be less than the expiration date.

During the period between a poll’s active and end date, it will appear in the forums and members can vote. After the end date, voting is closed but the poll is still visible. After the expiration date, the poll will no longer appear in the forums.
