New SAP Security Solution Brief

A new SAP solution brief is now available that explains the key elements to securing your valuable information assets and outlines the security functions that SAP NetWeaver delivers to help you implement a successful security strategy. You can find it on the security homepage at <http://service.sap.com/security>.

Article on Security and Individual Responsibility

CNET news recently ran an article by SAP's Dr Sachar Paulus on the important role individual responsibility has to play in IT security. You can read the full article here: http://news.com.com/2010-7355-5110588.html?tag=nefd\_gutspro.

New Security Weblog in SDN

The security site in the SAP Developer Network now boasts its very first Weblog. Guido Schneider of SecurIntegration reports on his experience of setting up a public-key infrastructure. You can read the blog at <http://sdn.sap.com> -> SAP NetWeaver Platform -> Security. Anyone who has security-related topics of interest to developers and implementers is welcome to contribute.

The SAP Developer Network is open to SAP customers, partners, prospects, and anyone else in the SAP developer and implementer community, regardless of employer. If you haven't already done so, you can register free at <http://sdn.sap.com>.

Upcoming Event

February 2004 is not as far away as it seems. At the RSA Conference 2004 in San Francisco, February 23 - 27, you can come and meet some of SAP's security experts in person at the partner exhibition. For more information, and to register for the conference, visit www.rsaconference.com.
